

3rd Grade Summer Reading List

Reading is a skill used throughout the year. Research has shown that summer reading is extremely important for continuity of learned skills from the previous school year.

During the summer break, incoming third graders should read each day for 20 minutes. Two book reports will be due the first week of school. Students may pick any two books. Before selecting a book, be sure to check the AR reading level of the book at arbookfind.com to ensure your child is reading on the correct level. Recommendations are below. Students are not limited to this list.

Cam Jansen (series)
Nate the Great (series)
